Dr. Stewart Gives Review Of Book For Rotary Club

Dr. Malcolm F. Stewart, professor of philosophy and religion at Illinois College, discussed 'Arnold Toynbee's "Study of History"' during the meeting of the Rotary club Friday.

Dr. Stewart pointed out that Toynbee's analysis of history is a revolution in our way of looking at things. He said Toynbee used civilizations as a unit of study, rather than as a nation state. Twenty-one separate civilizations were analyzed in the book.

Religion is the central core of any civilization, the author wrote, explaining that the material development of a civilization is not an indication of its strength. Toynbee pointed out that it is spiritual energy that keeps civilization alive.

Dr. Stewart was introduced by Robert DuBois, program chairman.

Republican Women To Hold Rally Here Oct. 19

A one day district meeting of the Federation of Illinois Women's Republican clubs will be held Oct. 19 in Jacksonville, according to announcement by the president, Mrs. John T. Thomas of Belleville. The Jacksonville session will be the first of a series of downstate meetings in October to develop plans for increasing women's participation in affairs of the Republican party in the 1950 campaign.

Many women from the 20th and 21st Congressional districts are expected to attend the meeting in this city. This territory includes Hancock, McDonough, Adams, Brown, Schuyler, Cass, Morgan, Scott, Jersey, Calhoun, Green, Pike, Montgomer, Christian and Bond.

Other meetings have been scheduled for Oct. 20 at Peoria, Oct. 21 at Aurora, Oct. 26 at Mattoon, and Oct. 27 at Mt. Vernon.

Mrs. Thomas, who is working in conjunction with Mrs. Bertha Bear, Chicago, national Republican Committee woman for Illinois, and Mrs. Helen Griffin, Grant Park, state chairwoman of the Illinois Republican State Central Committee, said the meetings will take the form of "workshops" to perfect discussion groups on important topics. Among the subjects to be discussed will be increasing memberships, getting out the vote, the arousing of public sentiment against Communism in Federal Bureau, attracting the young voters to G.O.P. standards, coordination of efforts with related Republican organizations, and the necessity of obtaining and retaining Republican majorities in the national Congress and the Illinois General Assembly.

Str Interest In Congress
Keynote of the campaign, Mrs. Thomas said will be "to awaken the interest of all women in politics by convincing them that the decisions of congress have a vital effect on the home budget and on the lives of every member of the family, particularly the children who inherit the handicap of public debt foisted on them by deficit financing and give away policies, and who must carry the burdens of future wars created by such mistakes as those made at the Yalta conference."

The Illinois units are part of the 8,000 women's Republican clubs throughout the United States, whose national officers are encouraging all adult women to march to the polls in 1950 and express an opinion on political issues. The entire Federation of the Women's Council.

SOYBEAN PRICES UP TWO CENTS ON THE CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Soybeans responded to a variety of favorable items today by spurring a couple of cents on the Board of Trade. Demand was not far behind as buying entered all fats and oils markets.

In back of the upturn was an unconfirmed rumor that the government intended to allocate $250,000,000 to foreign countries for the purchase of various fats and oils here.

A good demand for soybeans persisted with prices rising despite an increase in the harvest movement. No. 1 yellow soybeans sold at $22.20 to $22.20 on track at country stations in Illinois and Indiana compared with $21.8 to $21.9 yesterday.

Price changes in major grains were not large, although corn developed considerable easiness late in the day. Purchases of cash corn on a to-arrive basis expanded to around 150,000 bushels and dealers said demand was less aggressive in the spot market.

Receipts were: wheat 1 car, corn 119, oats 23, rye 2, barley 28, soybeans 75.

Wheat closed 1-1/2 higher, December $2.14-1/2, corn was unchanged to 1/2 lower, December $1.17-1/2, oats were 1/2 lower to 1/2 higher, December 58, rye was unchanged to 1/2 higher, December $1.45-1/2, soybeans were 2-1/2 higher, November $23.01-23.02, and hard was 3/4 to 1/2 cents a hundred pounds higher, October $1.12.

Chicago Cash Grain

THE Homeroft trailer camp was situated in what had once been a pasture. The trailers were all sizes, shapes and descriptions. Some were brave with tiny wooden awnings, white with green, red or blue stripes. Others boasted miniature chicken fences. One or two were home-made affairs, crooked and leaning, with makeshift accessories of one kind or another and built on rooms with sloping roofs.

The place smelled depressing. One was aware of mingled odors of steamy water and coal oil and garbage.

Jenny and Tod rented a small trailer at the end of one of the gravel lanes named Avenue B. The camp was directly across from the college campus and one had a good view of the trees from one window.

Max had generously given Jenny all day off, so she and Tod could move their things to the new home. They shopped together at a supermarket for their first groceries to stock the cupboards of the trailer.

Their first dinner together was reminiscent of those suppers they'd had at the house on Catapa street, before they were married. There were candles and a gleaming white cloth on the camp table set up in the miniature living room. Already Jenny was planning how she could turn the trailer into a real home, bright new curtains, a picture or two, some bright cushions for the day bed.

She was anxious too, to get acquainted with some of the other couples who lived in the camp. She back and forth restlessly. "D'you think we can stand living in this hencoop for a whole winter?" he said bitterly.

"When we once get used to the smallness it won't be so bad," she answered calmly.

"You're an incurable optimist, Jenny," he said, without smiling. He paused by the sink and stared out of the diminutive windows at the trailer next door. All evening there had been coming intermittently from their neighbor's dwelling the sound of a baby crying. "All I can say," he added with grim emphasis, "is thank heavens we don't have a squalling infant caged up in here with us."

Jenny fastened her eyes upon the magazine she held in her lap and began to turn the pages. "Yes," she murmured, "that would be a tragedy, wouldn't it? Perhaps she should tell Tod how she had been feeling during the past few weeks, that she had wondered only this morning if perhaps she might to ask Nina to go to the doctor with her."

The mood he was in now precluded any confidence of that sort. She'd have to give up her job, before the end of the school year, and that would mean money difficulties. Besides that, and worse, Tod didn't want a baby.

TOD had noticed Jenny's irritability. How could he help it? You couldn't say two words to her without she flew off the handle. And he blamed himself rather, for he knew she had been hurt. But after all, he had made all sorts of concessions trying to make up for it. One was moving into this lousy trailer camp.

"I wonder," he said abruptly one evening, "how Ma and Harriet and Joe are getting along? Wonder if they've ever found another place to live?"

"Maybe you ought to go look your mother up," Jenny suggested, when he mentioned them. She wondered if Mrs. Duncan would be different if she knew they were going to have a baby. It might change things.

Still she put off telling Tod. (To Be Continued)

Dallas —(AP)—A penthouse school, on top of the steam plant at Southern Methodist University, is opening its third year but still has no pupils. In this research classroom, complex instruments record the changing light and brightness patterns under all conditions of sunlight. Prof. R. L. Bielese, Jr., is using it on research in "day-lighting the classroom" under grant from the Detroit Steel Products Co. and Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co.

The classroom is 32 feet square. Each wall is completely open to daylight. The ceiling is adjustable in height. Movable partitions make any one side the light-receiving side. It has mock-up desks with a 10-degree tilt, blackboards and pin-up display areas.

But no pupils.

THE STORY: Jenny had noticed they were mostly young couples like Tod and her, probably all students. The getting acquainted would have to be mostly up to Tod, who would be around all the time as soon as school started. Working, she'd be gone all day, and Sunday would be the only time she would have to see anyone.

Meanwhile they settled down. Tod enrolled and she could tell at once that he wasn't too enthused about the school. It wasn't going to be anything like the State University.

"I can't understand why you didn't go ahead and finish at State. It wouldn't have cost any more."

Tod reddened and his jaw tightened a little. "Things would be too different," he said curtly.

YES, Jenny was thinking, it would be different. At the State University, he had had things easy, living in a fraternity house, enjoying the admiration due one of the big lettermen. And besides that, he'd been in Liz Conover's crowd, the top dogs.

She looked at him as he started to work over his new textbook. The light from the student lamp above the small desk in the corner, lit up the handsome lines of his face, the clean sweep of his dark brows. No wonder, she thought, the girls at the University had all been wild about him. The typical football hero, with those enormously broad shoulders, the thick strong neck, the rough tumble of dark curls on his head.

"This course'll sure be a bore. I can see that," he said suddenly, looking up and tossing the book aside. His face was stiff.

A sharp retort sprang to Jenny's lips, but she choked it back. What was the matter with her? Feeling tender one moment and wanting to slap him the next? "Maybe I could help you, Tod. I'll be able to do some of your outside reading and things like that."

He got up and began to pace

Women Voters Launch Series On Jacksonville

The League of Women Voters met Friday evening at the David Smith house, Illinois College, to hear Miss Amelia DeMotte discuss "The People of Jacksonville—Where It Came From and Why?" This is the first meeting in a "Know Your Town" series, with Mrs. J. L. Bunch chairman.

Miss DeMotte referred to the ledger compiled by Timothy Chamberlain, who kept the minutes of the "Early Settlers of the County of Morgan" from 1689 to 1898, the date of Mr. Chamberlain's death. She discussed the "Emigration Society" of New York which was formed in 1818 to aid emigrants in their search for favorable locations.

David Berdan, father of Judge James Berdan, who traveled with Isaac Fort and George Nixon to the Mississippi River in the winter of 1819-1820 as representatives of this society, kept a diary which describes this section favorably.

2 Women Work Swedish Cloth Racket In Jersey

Jerseyville—What is described as the "Swedish Cloth" racket was played here this week by two young women who have been sought in other parts of the state for this type of confidence game.

The two women separately but with the same objective. The first one displays and takes orders for some remarkably fine Swedish cloth and makes delivery on the spot.

Once the money or check has been acquired, the first saleslady leaves, but in a few minutes lady number two appears seeking lady number one. When she learns from the housekeeper that the first girl has been there and sold and left her some goods, the second girl immediately requests to be shown the merchandise.

When the housewife complies with the request, number two picks up the items delivered by number one and declares: "She can't get by with this. You paid her that much money for this," and leaves the house carrying the goods and drives away regardless of the protests of the housewife.

The two confidence women narrowly escaped state police here Wednesday by a minute when they sought to cash a check on which payment had been stopped by a local housewife.

Sample Flower Room Winds Up In Ditch

A house trailer, stripped of home-like accessories and filled with samples of artificial flowers, grave preachers, and other decorations, landed in a ditch at the side of U. S. Highway 67, south of this city, Friday morning.

The trailer was hit by a Chevrolet panel truck driven by Ed Jacobs, 2699 Farewell avenue, Chicago, but became unfettered while descending the Sandy creek hill headed south.

Jacobs, who has a number of business acquaintances in this city, narrowly escaped injury when the truck turned over. He crawled out and surveyed the wreckage of his traveling sample room in the trailer.

Jacobs told Deputy Sheriff John Irlam that he had just begun the descent of the hill when the chain connecting the truck and trailer snapped, causing each vehicle to run wild and hit the ditch.

A portion of the house trailer exploded across the highway, blocking traffic for a time until state police and the deputy sheriff restored order. The badly damaged truck and trailer were towed to Jacksonville by the Brummett Motor Co. wrecker.

Ranks Of Jobless Drop 338,000 During September

Washington, Sept. 30—The ranks of the jobless dwindled by 338,000 in September—the second successive monthly drop in unemployment shown in the late summer business upswing.

The census bureau reported a decline to a total of 3,351,000 unemployed. Secretary of Commerce Sawyer called it "gratifying" news.

"It further bolsters accumulating evidence that general business conditions are improving," he said in a statement.

The unemployment picture was brighter, by 744,000 persons, than in July when joblessness reached 4,095,000 the peak since 1942.

The number of employed moved downward also, to a total of 40,410,000 civilians at work. But census said the 338,000 drop in total employment since August was "smaller than that seasonally expected" when young workers are quitting their jobs to return to school.

Meantime economists predicted that the upturn of industrial production first shown in August after an eight-month slide, will carry through November. They added an if: There are not prolonged major strikes.

MoPac Makes New Proposal To End 3-Week Walkout

St. Louis, Sept. 30—The management made a new proposal today for ending the three-week-old Missouri Pacific Railroad strike, and a union spokesman promised it would be given "very serious consideration."

Guy A. Thompson, the railroad's trustee, proposed the dispute be given to three referees for hearing and decision—the decision to be binding on the company but not on the unions. The strike would end immediately with union acceptance of the proposal.

Roy E. Davidson, speaking for the four striking brotherhoods, said presidents and general chairmen of the unions probably will give their answer to the railroad late tomorrow, or perhaps not until Monday.

"It isn't too bad," Davidson said of the offer. "It has merit."

Thompson handed a letter containing the proposal to the union leaders at a meeting in the Missouri Pacific building.

29 Wolves Killed In Jersey County During Season

Jerseyville—Another wolf was killed in western Jersey county this week to bring the total number of the animals slain in the locality this year to 29. Orville Smith, professional hunter of Detroit, Ill., bagged the wolf during a chase in Richmond township the morning of Sept. 27. The animal was a large dog wolf.

The wolf was a member of an original pack of seven which ranged in the vicinity of the Harold Medford and Lawrence Morrison farms. On the first hunt to destroy the pack in August, Smith and his hunting companion, Bud Wade, killed three of the band. Two subsequent hunts netted one each and the killing of the animal Tuesday morning has accounted for six of the seven members of the original pack.

Jersey county pays a bounty of $15 for each wolf scalp. The 29 wolves killed this season is probably the record for Illinois counties this year.

Some of the wolves killed in Jersey county the past three years were cross breeds as the result of the wolves mating with wild dogs in the western Jersey county district. These "dingoes" as they are called in Australia possess all the instincts of the pure bred wolves, according to Smith, and are even more atrocious as killers.

2 CARS 'STOLEN' BOTH 'RECOVERED' HERE LAST NIGHT

Jacksonville police received reports of two stolen cars, both of them Buicks, here last night. One was recovered about six blocks from its parking place. The other hadn't been moved.

Orval Inge of 1807 Meador avenue and Mrs. Inge parked their 1938 black Buick sedan in front of the library around 7 p.m. When they came out of the library they found their car was gone. The theft was reported on the Illinois police network at 7:30 p.m.

An hour later Chief Frank Kiloran and Capt. Ike Flynn found the car parked on North Main street. It was driven to the city hall.

From patrons of the Ludwig hamburger shop on North Main street, police learned that a customer had left there a few moments before, after telling them that a car he had borrowed from a friend was stolen, while he was eating a hamburger. The officers found him on his way to tell the friend the sad news.

It seemed that his friend had parked his Buick near the library. He went over after it found a Buick, and drove it to North Main street.

He was so pleased with the police finding his friend's car still parked near the library that he ate the cheeseburger he had promised to bring back to his pal.
